

Bolton Hill Events

TWO neighborhood events will be combined this year when the Bolton Hill Garden Club and the Episcopal Churchwomen of Memorial Church stage the club's sale of Christmas trees and greens and the latter's sale of Christmas cookies tomorrow.

The tree sale will begin at 9 A.M. and continue until all the evergreens are sold, and the cookie sale will be held from 10 A.M. to 1 P.M.

Mrs. Edward L. Gray heads the garden club committee with Mrs. Francis X. Whittie and Mrs. Robert J. Thieblot serving as co-chairmen. Proceeds will help finance the maintenance of the John Street Park, the club's major project.

Mrs. J. Hunter Alfriend is chairman of the cookie sale with Mrs. E. John Notley, co-chairman, and Miss Rosalie Hollyday. Mrs. J. Armstrong Kirby, Mrs. J. Paul Randall and Mrs. Edgar T. Wagner assisting. Miss Margaret Hanson is president of the churchwomen.

Since the booklets containing sketches of the neighborhood by Mrs. J. Nolan Callahan proved so popular at the Memorial bazaar, they will again be offered for sale.

The Bolton Hill Garden Club's Christmas program includes not only the sale of greens but also a doorway decoration contest and the decoration of lamp posts in the area, with Mrs. Joseph A. Mooney, Jr., a past president of the club, serving as chairman. Her committee includes Mrs. Walter W. Pearthree and Mrs. Richard N. Stein.

Doorway Decoration

The Christmas doorway decoration contest, a traditional neighborhood undertaking, is being directed by Mrs. John B. Keene, assisted by Mrs. Alfriend and Mrs. William T. Fehsenfeld.

This, the final event of the holiday season for the club, is scheduled for December 26, between the hours of 1 P.M. and 5 P.M. Judges, representing artistic, commercial and garden club circles, will choose the best wreaths, swags, twin designs, the most original, the best contemporary decor and the most attractive over-all house.

There will be an invitation class also and an award—the club cup—for the “best in show.” and this year a children's class has been added, the entries to be designated by stars in the windows.

The stars may be obtained from the committee prior to the judging. Mrs. Richard J. Chambliss is president of the Bolton Hill Garden Club, and Mrs. Arthur W. Sherwood heads the program committee.
